NEWS OF THE VICINAGE.

Harrodsburg will have a street fair this fall.

Mrs. E. Boyd, niece of Hon. Robert Boyd, is dead at London.

W. S. Elkin, cashier of the Burnside bank, died of consumption.

A Danville man has sold from one batch $540 worth of puppies.

Capt. Dan Meade, a popular C. S. conductor, died at Somerset.

Only 10 postmasters in the State get better salaries than the one at Somerset.

The first train crossed the Rolling Fork trestle 53 hours after the accident.

B. H. Sale, of Irvine, walked out of a third-story window at Richmond in his sleep and was killed.

In a fight at Somerset, Robert Colyer cut Frank Randall severely. He was held in $1,000 bond.

Denny B. Goode, formerly of Ebanks, has been elected business manager of the Lexington Observer.

Riley Broyle and daughter, who were running a little grist mill in Whitley, were killed by its explosion.

Joe H. Sowder has finished up a 19 days sentence in the county jail. Joe left on the next train for other quarters.—Mt. Vernon Signal.

Dee, little son of Dudley Robertson, of Perryville, was probably fatally hurt by being thrown from a horse while visiting in Madison.

Gov. Beckham has offered a reward of $200 for Dan Owens, who broke jail at London. He had been tried for the murder of J. H. Smith and given a life sentence.

The Masonic temple at London was dedicated Saturday, Deputy Grand Master W. C. McChord and members from all over the State participating in the exercises.

Mrs. Thomas A. MacGregor died suddenly at Louisville. She was the mother of Mrs. Ernest Sprague, well-known here, and Miss Matilda MacGregor, who just sailed to Europe.

This sample story is sent out from Middlesboro: The Lafollette Land Company has broken ground for a 100-ton blast furnace. They will also build 300 coke ovens. Contracts have also been let for the erection of 150 dwellings.

Gen. Cassius M. Clay, of White Hall, has purchased and deeded to his former child-wife, now Mrs. Riley Brock, a house and 3½ acres of land adjoining Mrs. Brock's present home in Woodford. This is the third purchase of land that Gen. Clay has made for her since her marriage to Brock.

MCKINNEY.

Mr. J. Walker Givens is slowly recovering from a severe case of throat trouble.

Should you see a fancy rig occupied by a fine looking gentleman, wearing a spade-tail coat and patent leather shoes driving into town, that's our McInotech He's looking for Thompson Cooper.

It is reported that Josiah Bishop had prayer "meeting" in his wheat field the other day, immediately after being rescued from the entanglements of a run-away team of four large mules which he was driving to a binder.

We miss the able communications of your former correspondent from this place. It has been suggested that he has soured on you in consequence of your condemnation of the accused assassins of the late Gov. Goebel, especially Taylor for whom he seems to have great admiration.

A large majority of the democrats in this end of the county heartily endorse your advocacy of the nomination of the Hon. James D. Black for governor, believing him the strongest man yet named and that he can forever silence the big gun from Danville.

Some of our boys who used to play ball went to Hustonville Saturday and what they did for the Hustonville cracks who claim to have honestly (?) beaten every team in this part of the State, was simply horrible. Poor Hustonville how they did kick. They had their own umpire, got mad at him and left the field after the fifth inning 13 to 1 against them. If they are not satisfied let them name their time and place.

Miss Manelye Ware leaves Friday to attend a house-party to be given by her friend and classmate, Miss Claxton at Owensboro. Her health, has fully determined to move with his estimable family to a more congenial climate, much to the regret of the entire community. Mr. Wm. Duddar has made arrangements to bundle wheat at this point for a large Northern firm. Our farmers are inclined to sell while the market is good. The many friends of Mr. C. S. Owens are glad to see him again in charge of the railroad office here.

Mrs. F. M. Ware and sister, Mrs. Spencer Hubble, will leave in a few days to spend the remainder of the summer in Colorado Springs. Miss Maggie McHardy left Friday to visit her relatives in Canada. A message to his father from John Tanner, who lives in Texas, brings the sad intelligence of the probable fatal illness of one of his children. Dr. Lowder and Charley Crow are getting ready to attend the game of ball at your place to be played by the Bloomer Girls. Dr. Hawkins Brown is not going as he saw them at New Orleans.

BOBBITT'S PRESIDENTIAL PLAT-FORM.

CRAB ORCHARD, June 23.—To the people of the United States: Although I am not an announced candidate for the presidency, I deem it my duty as a patriot, to let the people know that I would accept of that important trust if tendered to me politely and by an overwhelming majority of unbought votes, not having enough money about me just now to buy so big an office. I desire to make this announcement now, so after the election is over, and the people have selected some common, sorry man, they can not say: "We didn't know that you would have the office." Now you know it, and what are you going to do about it? Give it to some common mediocre of course. You can't say you did not see my announcement for the INTERIOR JOURNAL is ready by all intelligent people. That's what makes them intelligent. I want all the newspapers North and South, to copy this open letter; and publish my platform on which I firmly stand, "Like some tall steele high."

"Niggers" to the snowy cotton field, the coarse, rough women of the North to the wash tub, the beautiful, chaste, refined, delicate ladies of the South to the parlor, the democrats to the offices, and all assassines and sympathizers with assassins to the Stygian shore to read their atrocious acts by the glaring red light of hell!"

I do not want my "niggers" back again. We raised them so tenderly and had to work so hard to feed and clothe them that they could not stand the wants, privations, and starvations of freedom, and about all, except my nurse, poor old Gilbert, have gone across the silent river.

My platform is short and pointed, not long and voluminous, like parties whose platforms are larger than the candidates who stand upon them. My record as justice of the peace and town attorney for Crab Orchard are a sufficient guarantee of my future conduct.

JUST LISTEN AT THIS.

VINELAND, N. J., June 23.—An article signed "Brother Barnes" purporting to have been published in your journal, appeared in the "Leaves of Healing," J. Alex Dowie, Pub., Chicago, Ill., June 9, 1900. Did you publish such an article? It is headed "The Messenger of the Covenant." The L. of H. says it was written by Rev. Geo. O. Barnes, of Sanibel, Florida. The article is most blasphemous in sentiment and diction. Can you give me any information regarding this Mr. Barnes? I am writing a series of articles about this man, "Dowie," and wish all the facts I can get to his adherents. Yours truly,

In Whitley county, Saturday night, John Eagle was shot and killed by Cooke Cox, as the result of a quarrel between the two over a sum of money which Cox claimed Eagle owed him.

MT. VERNON.

Sparks & Co. are starting a brick kiln at their quarry three miles South of town.

Contract has been let for building a telephone line from London to Livingston, where it will connect with the central State lines.

Every democrat your reporter has talked with in this and other counties is for James D. Black for governor and is working for his nomination.

Charles Bronston, colored, a brick-maker of Richmond while attempting to jump on a moving freight train at Sparks' quarry this Monday morning, fell under the wheels, which cut off one of his legs below the knee. The citizens of Rockcastle have suffered a remarkable train of accidents within a very short period. John Payne lost a foot by train at Livingston, Craig Thompson had a foot cut off by train near Sparks' quarry, Mort Owens, Jr., lost both legs and shortly afterward died from being run over by train at Brodhead. George Mullins, Marensburg, James Houston, Pine Hill, W. C. Cable, Brodhead, lost their lives and Will Adams, Walter Miller and Arch Brown dangerously injured in the Calvary bridge disaster. While gathering cherries at his mother's in this place an hour since a ladder fell with Thos. Proctor, breaking his right leg above the knee.

Mr. Shafer, the New York stave man, is here to see Mr. Gustavson. Miss Delora Brown, daughter of Dr. S. W. Brown, of Commerce, Texas, formerly a citizen of Rockcastle, is visiting Mrs. Mattie Lawrence and other relatives here. J. J. Lawrence is offered a lucrative position with the Southern Pacific. He will probably accept. Bob Owens, who was shot at Pine Hill by John Pittman, is improving. J. K. McClary continues quite ill, though is some better. R. L. Brown, acting democratic county chairman, is doing good work for the cause. E. S. Albright is making the Signal get up and hum. James N. Reynolds and little Mollee were here from Pittsburg Saturday and Sunday. Messrs. John Pope, Jacob Samuels, Doc Stucky and Miss Ora Clancy, of Livingston, and Miss Judith Simpson, of Pine Hill, attended church here Sunday. The little Misses Flora and Florence Pennington, twins, gave a birthday party Thursday last and entertained quite a number of their little friends.

BRODHEAD IN MOURNING.

Never in the history of our little village under the hill had so severe a shock come over it as that of last Tuesday when the news was clicked over the wires of that terrible accident near Lebanon, which caused the death of J. H. Huston, George Mullins and later the death of W. C. Cable, John Newland and William Adams being seriously hurt and Arch Brown and Walter Miller slightly.

If the entire town had been draped in mourning the people of this place could not have been more touched, the people were so shocked it seemed to paralyze all business, and when the news of W. C. Cable's death reached us, it seemed as one was gone that no one could fill his place. As a husband he was kind and generous, as a father he was almost worshipped by his dear little ones, as a Sunday school instructor and a worker for Christ in the church his place will be hard to fill. But death has called him home where we feel sure his reward awaited his coming.

He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss. The sympathy of the entire town goes up in behalf of the bereaved wife and children and his aged father and mother, who had led him in a manner that was pleasing in the sight of God. His funeral was preached by Elder J. G. Livingston Friday afternoon in the Christian church, the largest crowd witnessing it I have seen for years. After services his remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at the church. D. R. TOTTEN.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., - JUNE 26, 1900

W. P. WALTON.

For Congress.

HON. G. G. GILBERT

Of Shelby County.

BRO. PINER, the Hopkinsville Methodist preacher, has made a mess of it by giving grounds for the belief that he was too intimate with one of the sisters. He not only came near having his head shot off, but has been the means of breaking up a family. He was in too bad condition to appear at the trial of James D. Ware for shooting him when the case was called Friday and it was continued till July 5th. Mr. Ware will make no statement of why he attempted to kill the preacher in his own parlor, but his attorneys say it was under justifiable circumstances. Mrs. Ware has filed suit for divorce and alimony against her husband, alleging that he had abandoned her after accusing her of improper relations with Piner. She also says that for more than 12 months he has frequently been under the influence of intoxicating liquors, and has for more than six months habitually behaved toward her in such an inhuman manner as to indicate a settled aversion to her. Public sentiment is divided, but Piner's congregation is said to cling to belief in his infallibility. It seems at this distance though to be another case of an otherwise apparently good man gone wrong.

MR. BRYAN'S comment in the premises is so pointed and so appropriate that we adopt it both in whole and in part. Says he: "The Philadelphia platform is the best evidence thus far given of the deception attempted by the republican party." Taken in connection with the speeches made at the convention, it shows that the republican party's platform in 1896 was a deliberate fraud as far as the promises of international bimetallism were concerned; that the party's attitude on the trust question is insincere, and that the party is not willing to state its attitude on the Philippine question and invite the judgment of the people. Nothing was more manifest in the convention than the military spirit, and yet the convention did not dare to endorse the demand of the president in 1898 for a standing army of 100,000 men."

THE republicans tried to make a pyrotechnic display in the nomination of McKinley and Roosevelt, but it fell flat. The ticket nevertheless is a strong one and it stands the democrats in hand to nominate a stronger, which they can do by naming William Jennings Bryan and David Bennett Hill, on a platform, which unlike that adopted at Philadelphia, will not be high sounding, but meaningless words. Democratic chances are a great deal better than in 1896 and with conservative action and wise leadership the prospects for success are very bright.

BILLY to Teddy: "Your unanimous nomination is a high and deserved honor. I extend my heartiest congratulations." Teddy to Billy: "I appreciate deeply your congratulations, and am proud to be associated with you on the ticket." This passage of telegrams was on the day of their nomination. Yet when they are officially notified July 12, when McKinley will go to Stanton for the purpose, they will "feel" like it's news to them. There's a awful lot of foolishness in politics as other matters.

THEY do say that our own, our amiable, handsome and accomplished Mr. Verkes was not down as one of the likely to second McKinley's nomination to be "interpolated" himself in order to work in some platiitudes about liberty and the Kentucky situation. His effort and the effort to make a spectacular show of Assassin Taylor features of the show, it is not the report sent out that Taylor went to the mountain country where he could be protected by the rebels to make a series of speeches to make a mark in his face fall, but it bears out in the face of an improbable odor of treason. An improbable Taylor couldn't be drawn into a yoke of treason. He is destined to death where he is, being tried by his crimes and dreading sure consequences.

THOSE who remember how Judge Taryin can not make much way in the race for governor unless he is provided with some invention will be surprised to learn that he is provided with some invention and up his pants.

Mrs. HANNA says he is going to carry Kentucky, "Goebel law or no Goebel law." The old rascal thinks he may bulldoze his way here, but operators are out to his game this time the frauds of 1896 and 1899 will not be repeated. Kentucky will give her oral vote to Bryan, "bulldoze or no bulldoze or no bulldoze."

PERUSAL of the story of the terrible wreck on the Southern in Georgia enough to make a dog vomit to the associated press reports of the office holders acted when they stated McKinley. School boys not have discounted their doings.

HON. JAMES D. BLACK is making friends everywhere he speaks and creating the most favorable impression. He is for certain amendments to the election law that experience has shown necessary and for an equal representation of the leading parties at the polls, but thinks, like us, that a return to the viva voce manner of voting is the surest cure of the election evils. Like the good democrat that he is, Mr. Black states in his speeches democratic success is what he desires and that he does not wish even to be considered by his party if his candidacy will imperil the chances of success. It grows more and more apparent each day that Mr. Black is the man of the hour and the one above all others to nominate for governor. His nomination will be worth thousands of votes in the mountains and be an olive branch extended to all shades of democracy for their support.

POLITICIANS AND POLITICS.

At Newport, Ark., a congressional convention has taken 1,000 ballots without the result.

The Texas democratic State convention, after a prolonged contest, adopted an anti-expansion platform.

Mark Hanna says he intends to carry Kentucky this year. "Goebel law or no Goebel law?" We shall see.

The people's party will hold a convention at Louisville, Aug. 1, to nominate a candidate for governor.

William S. Jennings was nominated for governor on the 4th ballot by the democratic State convention of Florida.

A poll of preferences for a democratic candidate for vice president shows David Bennett Hill, of New York, a favorite.

Both Wilson and Brown agreed that a special judge should act in Leslie and that the contention between them should be settled by the courts.

Aaron Kohn's opinion that the law is against an election for governor this fall is meeting with strong endorsement from members of the bar of the State.

This senseless editorial appears in the Somerton Paragon. "Goebelites can't fool anybody into believing that they are going to nominate a mountain man for candidate."

The Kansas City Star says that the caterers will lay in a supply of 216,000 bottles of beer and 50,000 loaves of bread. The Louisville Times wants to know what they want with so much bread.

He was bred in old Kentucky where the meadow grass is blue, but the color of his make-up had a streak of yellow, too; take him Mount, you're very lucky to shelter a stiff like Bill.—Cynthiana Democrat.

Justus Goebel has left Frankfort for Phoenix, Ariz., and his departure is taken to mean that no further effort will be made to apprehend fugitive Taylor until the trial of the other conspirators has begun.

The climax of the most disgraceful and disgusting epoch in the political history of America was reached when the representatives of the republican party, in National convention, cheered and honored a self-convicted assassin and a fugitive from outraged justice, W. Skunk Taylor.—Danville News.

One thing we mountain boys do know. Yerkes can't win the office of governor of Kentucky on his personal beauty, shapely legs, good clothes and trained society ways. One thing we suspect: Yerkes is playing for the favor of Washington and official patronage should McKinley win the presidency more than for "civil liberties" in Kentucky.—Somerset Journal.

Five or a people were scourged with lessons in the school of experience that were calculated to teach them to stand together in defense of common right, surely we have had those lessons within the last 12 months. If there ever was an honest man identified with the democratic party, who, for reasons satisfactory to himself, has strayed away from its fold within the last few years surely, if he is ever to be reclaimed and snatched as a brand from the burning, that person's reclamation and redemption have been wrought out for him by the last six months of republican denunciation.—Senator Blackburn.

At Grandview, Ind., Theodore Gunderson, a Negro, was chased by a mob and badly wounded for making a remark derogatory of the white women of Grandview. The Negro was finally brought across the river into Kentucky by an officer to save him from the mob.

Forty-one passengers and trainmen were killed late Saturday night in a wreck on the Macon branch of the Southern railway, near McDonough, Ga. The train ran into a washout, and of all those on board none escaped death save those in the sleeping car. Not a traioman escaped. The wreckage caught fire and many of the unfortunate were burned to death.

A. C. Gilligan, a young man, was given 18 years by a jury in Isle of Wight county, Va., after a three weeks' trial, for killing Beverly Turner, with whose pretty daughter, Isabel, he was in love and who had ordered him to stay off his place. Gilligan says he secretly visited Isabel at her request, and that while they were locked in each other's arms in the stable lot, on Dec. 27 last, Mr. Turner came up with a gun in his hand. Gilligan said he did the killing in self defense. Miss Turner denied that she was with Gilligan, and said she had not spoken to him for a long while. The evidence was against Gilligan, but the jury had just enough doubt as to premeditated killing to give him the highest punishment possible in the State below hanging.

Whoever brought about the exhibition of W. S. Taylor, former governor of Kentucky, at the Philadelphia convention, committed a deplorable indiscretion. The move was theatrical in conception, but it utterly failed of the dramatic effect intended—to the credit of the delegates, be it said. Taylor is now a fugitive from justice. The governor of Indiana, in violation of his clear constitutional duty, declined to surrender him to the authorities of Kentucky, and whoever goes out of his way to do him honor, affronts the State of Kentucky, and not merely the democrats of that Commonwealth. It was foolish to elect him as a delegate, and it was even more foolish to attempt to lionize him before the convention.

John Whitehead, a farmer living near New Harmony, Ind., killed his wife and himself in a fit of insanity.

Martin Brown, a widower of 25, and Miss Bettie Walls, 19, were married at John Wagner's, near McKinney, Sunday.

D. K. Jones, of Berea, aged 65, was struck by a K. C. train and instantly killed. His family supposed him in bed. He left his room and walked on the track just before the train was due. He leaves a wife and several children.

Nield, at Grays, to Mr. Wade Cushing, a rising young lawyer of Cincinnati, Rev. James M. Allen, of Danville, officiating. The bride is a beauty and as bright and accomplished as she is pretty.

CHURCHES AND PREACHERS.

Rev. H. P. Walker, who had been retired for several years on account of ill-health, died at Lexington, aged 64.

Rev. W. A. Crawford, of Paint Lick, will assist Rev. S. M. Rankin in communion services next Sunday, preaching to begin on Thursday night.

Dr. E. O. Guerrant returned from a two-weeks' trip to the Cumberland mountains Friday, preaching in Breathitt and Perry counties. There were 32 additions to the church.—Jesamine Journal.

Protracted meeting at Old Union, Fayette county, conducted by Revs. Sharard and Shouse, closed Sunday with a total of 27 additions. Eld. Sharard baptized 17 in a pond Sunday afternoon.

A camp meeting will be held at Prestonsville July 11-22 in the woodland on the Bingaman farm. Revs. E. K. Rice and H. B. Cockrell and other ministers will do the preaching and Miss Nettie Springer, a renowned soloist, will be charge of the singing. Notify Rev. S. M. Carrier, if you wish a tent or other lodging place.

Rev. William Crow, one of the oldest and most widely known Presbyterians in Central Kentucky, died at his home in Richmond of paralysis of the brain. He was born in Fleming county in 1830, and was in his 70th year. He was a graduate of Centre College, Danville, being a member of the famous class of '57. He was at one time pastor of the Presbyterian church in Stanford, where he has legions of friends. More recently his time was devoted to evangelical work in Southern Kentucky. Besides a devoted wife eight children are left. They are Rev. William Crow, of Frankfort, Dr. McPherson Crow, of Versailles, Prof. Robert Crow, of Danville, Mrs. C. C. Crooks, Misses Ruth, Lucy, Letitia and Bessie Crow, of Richmond.

THE TAX books are now ready and those who desire to pay will please call at my office and do so, as it will be gladly received. S. M. Owens.

J. S. HOCKER bought over 400 acres of land in Pulaski county yesterday belonging to J. S. Hughes for $1,000 and Somerset electric light stock at $2.

THE McKinney base ball boys must be sluggers. They beat Hustonville 24 to 5 Saturday afternoon and the game was not played out, so one-sided was it.

PEOPLE from all parts of the county and many from adjoining counties will attend the bloomer game of ball here Wednesday afternoon. Come and help the boys.

SEVERAL farmers were running their twin binders Sunday same as any other day and some of the preachers threaten to have them before the grand jury.

MISS BEULAH MC ELWAIN, an unusually bright and attractive young lady, after a visit to her sister, Mrs. J. S. Owsley, Jr., returned to her home in Franklin Saturday.

THE L. & N. freight depot at Junction City caught fire Friday but the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done. Sparks from an engine started the fire.

THE directors of the Hustonville Fair met Saturday and finally fixed Aug. 1, 2 and 3 as the dates for the fair, so George D. Weatherford telephoned us yesterday.

NEWS comes to Liberty that Jesse McDowell, nephew of Mrs. R. T. Pierce, who died with her until recently, killed himself with a drug at Irwin, Ill. He was a very popular young man.

MUSIC.—Miss Margaret Lewis will instruct in piano, mandolin and guitar at $3.50 each a month. She is highly recommended by Mrs. Leddy, of Caldwell College, and has proven herself a very competent teacher.

THE Bloomer girls were winning right along from the Pittsburghs, when some drunken men began shooting, which frightened them so, they lost out 13 to 7. The Stanfords ought to turn a mouse loose, if they want to win the game here tomorrow from them.

SOMERSET.—Hardly an average crowd attended the opening of circuit court at Somerset yesterday owing to the busy season with the farmers. At 9:30 court was called to order and Judge T. Z. Morrow delivered a forcible charge to the grand jury, which consisted of 11 white men and one very black Negro. After this a number of whiskey cases were tried and at 1 Judge Morrow gave way to Congressman Vincent Boreling, who made a good, short speech. After his effort the occasion presented itself. Mr. Mays is very much worried that he has been living in the house with so disreputable a pair and is anxious for Sharpe to be caught and prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

RUSSELL.—The oldest man in the country, that we know of, died yesterday afternoon on the farm near Hustonville that he had lived for 65 years, when "Uncle Jimmy" Russell, after an honorable life of 90 years, was called from earth. He married a sister of the late Coorad Carpenter, who preceded him to the grave some 20 years. Seven children were born to them and all except one are living. Mr. Russell was a member of the Christian church and a good citizen. Burial this afternoon on the John Rout farm.

THE circuit court the case of T. J. Culton vs. the L. & N. for $10,000 damages was on Friday and Saturday, resulting in a verdict for the railroad. Mr. Culton swore that in a shake-up on the K. C. division he had two ribs broken and a leg sprained, but railroad men and others testified that there was no shake-up and that Mr. Culton must have received his injuries some other way. He was represented by Messrs. W. G. Welch and F. F. Bobbitt and the railroad by Messrs. J. W. Alcorn and L. L. Walker. Ben V. Smith, of Somerset, was sworn in as an attorney in this court. The juries were discharged Saturday till tomorrow when some civil cases are set for trial. The Commonwealth business is through.

GRUBBS.—The ceremonies attending the burial of Lt. Hayden Young Grubbs, who was killed in the Phillipses at Danville, Saturday, were interesting and notable. They were participated in by the Confederate veterans, Grand Army veterans, Danville military company, Centre College alumni and citizens. Addresses were made by Rev. H. A. Sumrall, Hon. B. McCleary and John S. Van Winkle, and prayers by Drs. E. M. Green and John M. Worrall. A military escort from the 6th infantry, Fort Thomas, in charge of Lt. Trotter, accompanied the body to Danville, and fired salutes over the grave. Lt. Grubbs was valedictorian at Centre in 1890, and was graduated from West Point in 1896. During the war with Spain he was a lieutenant colonel of Hood's regiment of immunes, and later refused an appointment as colonel in the volunteer service to resume his old place as 1st lieutenant in the regular army in the Philippines. He was 27 years old, a second son of Capt. W. E. Grubbs, one of Stonewall Jackson's men, and a brother of Mrs. E. T. Beazley, of this place.
